April 2015

To whom it may concern;

Late last year we had the fortune to cross paths with "The Whole Thing". Their relaxed but professional approach to training, staff development and business improvement has been refreshing compared to some of the other "standard" solution providers on the market.

The Whole Thing will work with you to ensure they meet your training needs and will ensure they deliver a high quality training solution which your staff will love. We have already ran one bespoke three day training event which has had the desired result and have more training planned over the coming month looking at our Management Development.

I'm confident our Managers will love the training and leave feeling focussed and energised. I look forward to a long partnership with Fiona, Vickie and "The Whole Thing".
